On the Road from Ethos to Fundamentalism

Rev. Carie Johnsen

This is the 2011 auction sermon you have been waiting for and didn't know it. The question that emerged from the dinner conversation started something like this "Are republican's welcome or offended in our midst?" Then journeyed down the road to thinking about the typical character, attitudes and beliefs (ethos) of Unitarian Universalists resting in the quandary of a possible UU fundamentalism. Come be a part of this fascinating conversation.

A Faith Journey by Rev. Carie Johnsen...

*I do not have to go
To Sacred Places
In far-off lands,
The ground I stand on is holy.*

*Here in this little garden I tend
My pilgrimage ends.
The wild honeybees
The hummingbird moths
The flickering fireflies at dusk
Are a microcosm
Of the Universe*

*Each seed that grows
Each space of soil
Is full of miracles.*

*And I toil and sweat
And watch and wonder
And am full of love,
Living in place
In this place,
For truth and beauty
dwell here.*

~ Mary de La Valette

What comes to your mind as you read this poem? Do you bear witness to the glorious miracles of nature abundant? Are you the neo-transcendentalist who finds Wisdom in nature's playground? Do you hear a metaphorical story of UUCU where the grace of relationships and kindness are lived out abundantly and generously everyday? Maybe you hear something entirely different. I hear both and they are the same.

In this holy land, made sacred by our presence, we bear witness every day to the unfolding of truth and beauty; the grace of humanity in relationship to life abundant, generous and kind; the grace of nature's transformation season in season out. We have experienced how love dwells here. We know it deep in our bones. We bear witness to miracles flourishing. We admire the majestic eagle, the mighty redwood, the vast expanse of sky at the shore and the earth beneath our feet. Standing in awe at the mountaintop, we witness with elegance the nature's roar.

Each day we enter beloved community, we chose life abundant. Each time we reach out in pain and ask for help, or offer compassion to an aching soul, we choose to live generously into the fullness of love. Each time we fumble or disappoint, and then rise up to say, I'm sorry, we know truth and beauty dwells here. Each time we rise up out of our loneliness, bravely bringing despair through the door, we claim life. Each time our sorrow is shared and our joy express, we claim love.

The life giving qualities of human nature and Mother Nature replenish the private wellsprings of our spirit as we traverse this holy land. We are a microcosm of the human story, how shall we choose to live out and tell that story? How will you choose to live out and tell your story?

Here is my prophetic vision:

Befriending visions of scarcity and fear, they boldly choose abundance and generosity.

So may it be, may it be so, Rev. Carie

From the Board President ...

Greetings!

I hope everyone enjoyed the break holidays afford us to enjoy good food and the company of family and friends. At one gathering I attended the topic of New Year's resolutions came up. The obligatory "I want to lose that extra 10 pounds" was a common theme as was the ubiquitous "I will exercise more!" And of course there is always one joker in the room who proclaims "I resolve never to make a resolution!"

How many of us will follow through with our lofty January goals? Probably not many. As Oscar Wilde once quipped, "Good resolutions are simply checks that men draw on a bank where they have no account."

With that in mind, this year I decided that it will be the little things that I will focus on. Yes, I know that I could eat less chocolate cake and lose some weight, but I am going to try to do things that affect someone else-like write a letter to my elderly aunt who lives in another state or invite someone who lives alone to share dinner. At church I am going to try to be more observant about 5 minute chores that need to be done-putting away the dishes in the drainer in the kitchen, or sweeping up the crumbs in Fellowship Hall after a Coffee Hour.

How about you? Are there little things you could do?

Ellen Goodman sagely offered this advice for the new year-"We spend January 1 walking through our lives, room by room, drawing up a list of work to be done, cracks to be patched. Maybe this year, to balance the list, we ought to walk through the rooms of our lives... not looking for flaws, but for potential. "

I hope that each and every one enters 2012, not with the high pressure list of "must-dos" for the annum, but rather with a list that can change us all in small ways and make us better members of our community.

In closing, I leave you with the words of Benjamin Franklin-"Be always at war with your vices, at peace with your neighbors, and let each new year find you a better man."

My best,

Sheila Comerford

Interim Director of Religious Exploration ...

We are now in the Year of the dragon! Happy Chinese New Year!

Plans are under way for offering sessions of OWL (Our Whole Lives) for our Chalice Children and for our 8th and 9th graders. Watch for notifications about parent orientation meeting dates!

Mark your calendars:

- Peace Jam: February 12th
- Jr/Sr Movie Night: February 26th

On February 19th and 26th (school vacation weekends) we will offer special multi-age activities in fellowship hall. All children (and any parents) are invited to take part! Spirit Play will happen at 11:00 as usual.

Peace Jam's (www.peacejam.org) 2012 conference is March 23rd, 24th and 25th (Friday-Saturday-Sunday) in Storrs, CT.

Several weeks ago the Jr. High Seekers polled those who were at coffee hour about their views of God. You may have seen the posters on the wall... you may have voted! Each person got three dots to register three opinions on the various ideas about God. As we might have predicted, UUCC adults have a wide variety of opinions!

Unitarian Universalists have always been a diverse lot. We come from a wide variety of backgrounds. Our beliefs and opinions begin to form when we are very young, based on the views of the adults around us, and on our own experiences. I have occasionally heard parents say, "I'll just let my child form her/his own beliefs. S/he doesn't need to attend a church, then s/he will be completely free to develop her/his own ideas." But what they forget is that no-one exists in a vacuum. Children are influenced by those around them - their friends, their schoolmates, what they hear from adults around them, from the media. Here at UUCC we want to show our children the many possibilities, the variety of ways others believe, But we also want to guide them in a direction that we believe to be a good way of living in the world.

Believe it or not, now is the time when planning for next year's RE program gets under way. We have a fantastic array of folks who commit to teaching our young people! Many return year after year! Being an RE teacher is a great opportunity to get to know our young UU's! It's also a fantastic way to grow and stretch your own spirituality!

Think you might like to know more? Ask a member of the RE Committee. Ask Rev. Carie. Ask me. The possibilities are endless!

Stewardship Committee ...

This year's budget supports a vision of greatness for our UUCC community, one which will afford us more resources for our church community and will give us the ability to have more of an impact on our larger community. We on the Stewardship Committee are excited about the opportunity to help the church reach this goal. We invite you to participate in Stewardship Sunday on January 29th and the upcoming Cottage Meetings to share in this vision of "Living Our Greatness".

Please feel free to speak with any of us on the Stewardship Committee (Annie Reiter, Hillary Neckles, Noah Gottlieb, Mildred Stengel or Karen Foust) regarding this year's campaign. We look forward to living this vision together.

DRE Search Committee ...

We are excited to report that the Search for a permanent Director of Religious Exploration (DRE) is underway. The board has given the DRE Search Committee approval to seek a full time DRE and advertising will start this month. Look for the job announcement and updated RE prospectus on the UUCC website.

This is a year of transition for the RE program and I would like to thank Pat, our Interim DRE, the classroom teachers, the RE Committee members, the DRE Search Committee members, and the many others who are helping to make this year run smoothly. We are always looking to add new volunteers to the RE team, so please let Pat or myself know if you would like to spend some time with our children or youth or as a part of the REC helping to ensure this program remains vital.

Pam Lombard,
REC Chair & DRE Search Committee Chair

History Committee ...

Due to inclement weather, the January 13th History Committee meeting was rescheduled to January 26th at 10:00 a.m. at the Kennebec Historical Society. We will be doing research on two of our early ministers, Rev. William Drew, founding minister of the Universalist church, and Rev. Sylvester Judd, a revered minister of the Unitarians. Our next meeting will probably be February 9 or 10 in the Olsen Room (Annex). Watch Sunday announcements for specifics, or contact Helen Zidowecki at: 582-5308 or hzmre@hzmre.com

Display Case ...

The January display has been a collection of books on Islam, provided by Rev. Carie Johnsen. This display will be up through January 29.

The February display will be Unitarian and Universalist Women's Heritage. The UU Women's Heritage Society (WHS) has consolidated with the Unitarian Universalist Historical Society to form the UU History and Heritage Society. One of the changes is the move of the UUWHS Library from its location on Newberry Street to Andover Newton Theological School. We are taking this opportunity to display some of the work of the UUWHS that will continue within the new structure for UU historical focus.

To display, contact Thursday SGM, via Helen Zidowecki or the UUC office

Contact: Helen Wing at: hcranewing@localnet.com or 685-3804 for either of these groups.

Goddess Continuing ...

"Where Have We Been? Where Are We Going?" was the focus of the gathering on January 15. The program at UUCC evolved from Cakes for the Queen of Heaven curriculum in the mid-1980's and Rise Up and Call Her Name in the mid-1990's. While retaining the power of the early focus on female deity and women's spirituality, we are considering more inclusivity of genders and age, and earth-based spirituality. This is evolving.

Our February meetings are being held in the Annex 12:15 p.m.-2:00 p.m. (White house next to church)

February 5, Small Group Ministry Session on Imbolc/Awakening. Please bring signs of Spring that you notice (This is in place of a celebration service.)

February 19 Continuing Revisioning. More details in the Sunday announcements.
